ABOUT ME

Full-Stack Developer with hands-on experience building and delivering web products for B2B and enterprise environments, including AI-powered features and delivery workflows. Skilled in turning product and business requirements into responsive user interfaces, scalable application architecture, reliable backend integrations, and efficient delivery processes.

EXPERIENCE

Web Developer & Project Coordinator

KAGAMA S.R.O.

July 2024 – November 2025

- Helped deliver an MVP for a large B2B SaaS service within 3 months as part of a 5-person team.
- Owned product design across hundreds of screens, defining user flows and interface structure for the MVP.
- Turned product requirements into actionable development tasks for a 3-person team, improving execution clarity and delivery coordination.
- Bridged design and implementation to help move the product from concept to working release on a tight timeline.

Full Stack Developer

Logicx consulting & workflow integration GmbH

May 2022 – April 2023

- Built and integrated backend and frontend components for a large internal client platform, contributing to around 8 major microservices across 15+ repositories.
- Supported 1–2 production releases per month in a 10-person team, delivering new functionality for a complex enterprise system.
- Owned end-to-end delivery of full-stack modules, typically completing backend and frontend parts in 1–2 week cycles before integration into the wider platform.
- Worked in a multi-repository architecture where reliable implementation and smooth system integration were critical to delivery.
